ATT005: RUINS OF AYUTTHAYA

TOUR DURATION: APPROXIMATELY 8 HOURS

Today you have the opportunity to visit the former capital of Thailand. Ayutthaya lies about an hour's journey to the north of the city & was the proud and powerful ancient capital of Siam until its destruction some 230 or so years ago. Much of the fabulous ornate city was lost at this time but what remains will, still give you an excellent idea of life during the 4 centuries that the Kings of Ayutthaya ruled.

We also visit the nearby summer palace of the present modern day Chakri dynasty, Bang Pa-In. After the sightseeing, we join our cruise boat for a leisurely boat ride back down the Chao Phaya River to Bangkok taking in all of the splendid scenery and typical Thai water-borne life on the way.

Chiang Mai Orientation Tour

This is a good tour of Chiang Mai that gives you an overview of our beautiful over 700 year old city. We take the winding road up the side of the hill overlooking the city to visit the most significant temple in Chiang Mai, the 600 year-old Wat Phra That Doi Suthep, which lies 3,500 feet above sea level. Inside you will find the symbol of the city, the copper-plated Chedi that is topped by a five-tier gold parasol, which contains relics of the Lord Buddha. From the terrace on a clear day, you will have a fine panoramic view of the entire city. Once you get there, that final climb up the 306 steps of the Naga staircase (a Thai mythological Dragon-headed serpent) will seem worth it!

We then return to the city, where you visit the city's biggest market Talad Warorot before entering two important temples. Wat Phra Singh with its famous Buddha image and Wat Chedi Luang, the oldest temple in Chiang Mai built by King Mangrai.
